Ghosh of Durgapur, and other dedicated amateur breeders. Their relentless dedication to rose culture is pivotal in enriching our catalogue and offering you plants tested for superior performance in our nurseries.

Beyond roses, we also offer an extensive range of conventional and exotic ornamental plants for both indoor and outdoor settings. We invite you to visit us and explore our expanding collection of fabulous ornamental plants. We are profoundly grateful for the continued support of our loyal clients and warmly welcome new enthusiasts to our growing community.

Testimonials

Late Nawab Shah Alam Khan, Former President Indian Rose Federation, Philanthropist, Great lover of nature.

“There are some people whose inner beauty matches the subject of their passion and interest. Rarely, if ever, do we come across an individual whose passion begins and ends with a flower as appealing as the rose, a flower that has no peer in God's creation. When their own sensibility is as beautiful as the attractiveness of a rose, one can imagine what an exquisite combination that is. I find it difficult to articulate my feelings when I sit down to write about Mr. Kasturi Rangan, one of the finest rose-growers in the world, whom I have known for over five decades now. Over the years, Mr. Kasturi Rangan has become synonymous with rose-growing of the highest international caliber. KSG roses have come to be associated with authenticated roses that are on par with the best in the world. It would be no exaggeration to say that as a rose-grower, Mr. Kasturi Rangan can compete with some of the most leading international names in this domain such as Fryer, Cant, Harkness, Meilland and Delbard. Such is the phenomenal reputation that KSG has acquired over the last few decades, through its commitment to uncompromising quality. No wonder then that he is known not as a rose-grower from India, but 'the' rose-grower from India. This is indeed the culmination of a lifetime of diligent and devoted application to his chosen realm--the world of roses!”

Late Dr. Manmohan Attavar, Chairman, Indo-American Hybrid Seeds (India)

“My association with Mr. Kasturi Rangan has been over five decades. He is one of the few eminent Rose Breeders in India who has contributed enormously by breeding about 125 promising cultivars of Roses best suited to Indian conditions, ever since 1955. Notable hybridization work has been done and is still being continued by this octogenarian, who is the proud owner of India's largest rose nursery in Bangalore. Mr. Kasturi Rangan has already catalogued 2000 varieties and his nursery has an amazing collection of over 4500 varieties of roses. He is undoubtedly the only Indian rose breeder to trial exotic varieties in India. With the dedication and enthusiasm of Mr. Kasturi Rangan and his son Mr. Sriram, I am sure many more beautiful evergreen roses will be developed to add splendour to rose gardens in our country. I wish him good luck in his endeavors to give the best to mankind and spread the message of friendship and love thro' roses.”

Ramrao Jagtap, Ram's Roses Pune, Ex. President Indian Rose Federation

“KSG's Roses over the years have been consistent, reliable, true to name and constantly updated. The spirit behind this enormous effort is the humble father and son team of G Kasturi Rangan and K. Sriram.”

Suresh Pingale, Pingale Roses Pune, One of the oldest rose growers of the country

“'KSG' and 'Kasturi Rangan' – mere two words conjure up an image of excellent Rose-World in India. This has become an Institute- a Gangotri- of imparting knowledge. Education and also wherewithal for roses and rose gardening. Inheriting the long legacy of horticultural contribution of his legendary father late Gopalswamiengar, Kasturi Rangan established a rose nursery par excellence in producing finest named rose plants in India. His nursery boasts to be world's only rose nursery supplying thousands of cultivars of roses. Not only he has established India's Best Public Rose Garden in Ooty, Tamil Nadu, he is a pioneer in creating thousands of private rose-gardens spread all over India. Sriram, his son, has added better quality production techniques-quite comparable to the best in world production. I join all rosarians in India in wishing him and his enterprise all the best wishes for future growth and glory.”

Dr. N.V. Shastri, One among the foremost of rose breeders, Nagpur

“M/s KSG SON have been the premier rose nursery of our country for more than half a century. It is the only nursery that has been making available, latest rose varieties from all over the world to rose lovers year after year. However KSG Son is much more than a nursery. Not only are they the leading rose hybridizers of India : they have a unique distinction of encouraging other breeders - most of them amateurs - by releasing their cultivars and including them in their catalogue. They have played a huge role in promoting rose breeding culture in our nation. Truly, Mr. Kasturi Rangan has been a friend, philosopher and guide to rose breeders like me.”

Mr. & Mrs. Viraraghavan, Rose Breeders of great International repute and our great well-wishers – Kodaikanal

“Indian rose lovers are indeed very fortunate that Mr. Kasturi Rangan and his son Sriram search the rose world for the newest roses, while yet keeping the classics available. Their catalogue is an invaluable resource for rose names and pictures. What is life without a new rose? Indian rose breeders are equally fortunate ... KSG Sons is always willing to test out their roses.”

Testimonials

Dr. A.P.Singh, Former Head, Floriculture and Landscaping, I.A.R.I, Ex-Project Coordinator, All India Floriculture Improvement Project (ICAR) New Delhi

“Really wonderful and very much appreciable efforts of M/s K.S. Gopalswamiengar Son for continuously serving the Horticulturists visits and the rose lovers as an outstanding experienced person in this field have made us feel very proud of their work for extra ordinary devotion. I am very much impressed by their dedicated service for printing a colourful catalogue of roses every year which include the latest, oldest and outstanding collection of rose varieties. Apart from beautiful photographs of more than 600 varieties, collection and production of a large number of quality and true to type plants of more than 1700 rose varieties itself is prize worthy and beyond imagination. Rose lovers of our country really feel proud of their maintaining and multiplying almost all the Indian rose varieties evaluated so far by our Indian rose Breeders. A large number of rose varieties evaluated by respected Shri Kasturi Rangan and Mr. Sriram (KSG Son) are also very outstanding & popular throughout the country.”

Mrs. Kala Hansoti & Dr. R. C. Hansoti, Great lovers and growers of plants, Mumbai

“Both Mrs. Kala and I are lovers of flowering plants and trees and roses. First I obtained rose plants from M/S Kordes Germany. Then due to our good luck we came across KSG'S Roses in year 1965. I have been procuring rose plants from Mr. Kasturi Rangan's nursery for last 45 years. I have visited his nursery several times. They have the largest varieties of roses. The rose plants he has been supplying are of international standard, they start flowering fast and mortality rate is almost 0 percent. Now a days we leave it to him to select the varieties for us and we have never repented. We have no hesitation to state that we have not seen any nursery so good as Mr. Kasturi Rangan's.

Dr. T. Janaki Ram, Head of the Division of Floriculture and Landscaping, IARI, New Delhi

“This is to certify that 'Division of Floriculture & Landscaping, IARI' have been procuring large number of rose plants of different varieties from K.S. Gopalswamiengar Son, Horticulturists, #177 5th main road Chamrajpet, Bangalore-560018 for many years. In our experience, the planting materials supplied by them are genuine, true to type and the prices are reasonable and competitive.”

Sushil Prakash, President, Madhya Pradesh Rose Society

“ Growing roses has not only been my passion but a profession also for the last about 34 years. I started growing roses since 1978. The first two years as a novice in this field I collected rose plants from local nurseries without much knowledge or guideline about the authentic sources.

Then I came in contact with K.S.G Roses of Bangalore in 1980. From then onwards started my association with K.S.G Roses. I came across various rose species both international and Indian varieties. K.S.G's elaborative Catalogue is acclaimed for its descriptive depiction, photographs and pictorial representation of various species of roses and matters related to it. I believe that K.S.G Rose Catalogue is the only catalogue in India is so updated and informative full of worth to Rose growers.

I have been buying bare root rose plants from KSG for the past 25 years and have been winning championships for the last 20 years by exhibiting these roses. My garden has the latest varieties of roses- Hybrid Teas, Floribundas, Miniatures, Climbers and Polyanthas introduced to the world, thanks to KSG's effort to keep the ardent lover of roses in India happy and satisfied. It is the only nursery which brings the best roses, true to their names and packaged in a way that is conducive to the growth of the plant.”

Ajay Vansh Tyagi, President, Indian Nurserymen Association, New Delhi

“As president of the INA, it gives me great pleasure to highlight the achievements of K.S.G. Roses. Having offered us great products over generations, K S G Roses has rendered invaluable service to all Rose Lovers in India and even made a mark for itself in the international market. Genuine and healthy varieties of rose plants are what rose growers desire the world over. I can assure you that K.S.G. is the most dependable nursery in the country on this account. Their R&D establishment enjoys a fabulous reputation and has also introduced new varieties of rose plants in the past.”

Ashok Agarwal, Friends Rosary, well-wishers & a great nursery in the North, Lucknow

“Our association with K.S.G. roses goes back more than half century and all these years and in third generation operations you have stood like a rock with us in our good and bad times .My father the grand man of roses always talked highly of you and your roses and in the long run only two of us were known for genuine and good roses. We must boost this relationship further.”

Cultivation Practices

Climate and Soil: Roses can be grown successfully where the plant gets the full benefit of the sun and plenty of air. It is necessary that the plants should be protected from gusty wind. Rose plants cannot tolerate the competition of roots from big trees.

Initial Preparations: Dig the land deep to a depth of 18" to 24" and remove all stubbles, big stones etc. Take necessary care and keep the top 9" of the soil separately while digging and replace it back after digging and manuring is over. Deep digging ensures good drainage.

For potted plants the size of the pot should be 25 to 30 cms in diameter with sufficient crocks, gravel and coir fiber, at the bottom ensure proper drainage.

Apply generously well decomposed farmyard manure or compost manure and a double handful of Bonemeal or Sterrameal for every square meter. This should be incorporated at the lower end of the pot or trench. The main purpose is to keep the manure away from the roots of the plant at planting time. Allow the soil to settle before planting.

In case of potted plants the soil mixture should include three parts of manure two parts of red soil or any good garden soil and one part of sand and half handful of Bonemeal or Sterrameal.

Preparation for planting: The rose plants are supplied with bare roots and pruned stems, with the root portion wrapped with coco peat. Carefully remove the coco peat. Immediately plunge the plants up to bud union only in a bucket of water or in water mixed with tank silt or dry diluted cow dung. Keep the bucket in shade for a minimum of 4 to 6 hours. If the branches appear to shrivel, the entire plant should be soaked for several hours.

If the plant arrives in a poly bag or pot in which they are already growing, well pruned, remove the poly covers or pots without disturbing the soil around the roots. Such plants should be planted with the soil in bigger pots or grounded in permanent places prepared for receiving the plants. Prune the branches lightly and water profusely.

Planting: The best period of planting rose plants is from middle of June to end February. This depends on climatic conditions. Hybrid Tea roses are planted 2 to 3 feet apart. Polyanthas and Floribundas may be planted 2 to 2.5 feet apart. Miniature may be planted 1.5 to 2 feet apart.

The operation of planting in beds or in pots is the same. Plant the rose bushes preferably in cooler hours. Make a shallow hole sufficiently large and wide and make pyramid mound of earth in center. Plant is then placed over the mound and the roots are spread down on the side of the mound, so that they do not cross each other.

See that the bud union is at least 2 to 3 inches above the soil surface. Manure or fertilizer should not come in contact with roots. Cover the roots with sieved soil or washed river sand. Shake the plant gently and add more of this soil so that the roots are covered leaving no air pockets around them and make it firm by pressing gently. Pour more soil and continue the process at each stage till the plant is firmly anchored. Fill up the remaining portion with more soil and treading and firming it. Firm planting should be the golden rule. Many maiden plants are lost due to loose planting. Let the roots be wet before planting.

Immediately after planting, thoroughly water or irrigate the plants so that the entire soil in the pot or trench is drenched. In case of potted plants, water the pot thoroughly till the water seeps through the drain hole. After the initial watering, seal off the pruned edges of the branch with a paste made of soil and cow dung. Cover the plants with polyethene sheet or an inverted pot.

Buds should start bulging out and leaves will appear within a week or 10 days, after that polyethene cover or pot is removed. Water the plants carefully as often the maiden plants are lost due to over watering. The general rule about watering is to keep soil moist and not wet. When the shoots are 5 to 10 cms long, give a spray of well known foliar feed and any one of the good insecticides (like Nuvan, Metacid, Malathion, Confeidor, Vertimec) should be sprayed and this should continue every 10 days. While using these sprays strictly follow the dosage prescribed by the manufacturers. After the flower bud appears, the pot or grounded plants is to be mulched regularly. Inorganic fertilizers can be safely used 40 to 45 days after planting.

Pruning: Purpose of pruning is to get rid of old wood each year and encourage the regular and healthy development of strong and healthy stems. Pruning helps to give a well shaped healthy bush, which will continue flowering freely. This is not as complicated as one thinks.

The plants arrive pruned thus saving you of the pruning for the first year. Prune once a year preferably in June or October depending upon the area and climatic conditions.

First remove the dead woods and weak twiggy growth. Before pruning, remove all the leaves. By experience we have found yellow and bicolor Hybrid Tea varieties can be pruned to half or one third of their existing size. The pruning should always be done to a bud pointing outwards, with a sharp pruner.

Floribundas require light pruning whereas miniatures require the removal of dead and weak shoots and just clipping the top. For climbers, all interfaced stems and weak shoots are to be removed.

GENERAL CULTIVATION:

The faded flowers should be removed regularly. Cutting of the flowers, which itself is a pruning operation should be done carefully.

Manure and Fertilizers: Apply manure and fertilizer preferably 15 to 20 days before pruning. Apply half basket of well decomposed farm yard manure (dry cow dung), Horse manure along with two handfuls of Bonemeal or Sterrameal for every plant. Pot mixture should be 3 parts of manure, 2 parts of red soil or good garden soil and 1 part of sand along with a handful of Bonemeal or Sterrameal for every pot.

Liquid manure made up of Gingily/ Castor or Neem oil cake by soaking it in water for 3 to 5 days. This is applied to the plant for once in 15 days. Potted plants should get this once a week.

During the growing period, they should get regular feeding with fertilizer. Mineral requirement can be satisfied by using standard preparation. Liquid manure can be applied as well by dissolving the same in water and should be applied only after normal watering.

Foliar applications of Fertilizers: There are quite a number of foliar feeds with micro nutrients available in the market. Instructions given by the firms regarding dosage should be carefully followed. This will keep the foliage and plant fresh and active.

Mulching: Mulch is a layer of bulky organic matter like leaf manure, lawn clippings, farmyard manure etc. Place around the surface of the growing plants. This preserves the soil moisture and protects the plants particularly in summer. Structure of the soil is vastly improved by constant addition of humus to the soil. Weeding and onslaught of black spot and mildew is reduced. Dangers of injudicious applying of fertilizers are reduced. The mulch should have 5 to 8 cms thickness.

Removal of Suckers: Occasionally, suckers of wild stocks appear below the budded portion. Remove them as soon as they are noticed. If allowed to grow, the vigorous growth of the sucker ultimately ruins the plant. Spraying of water over the leaves of the plants during cooler hours is very imperative for Roses grown in coastal areas. This helps washing off salt deposits and gives good results.
